HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO THOSE
BORN IN SEPTEMBER!
YOUR BIRTHSTONE IS THE BEAUTIFUL BLUE SAPPHIRE

Dear Children,

The fairies & unicorns, Wise Grandpa Tree and even the wild flowers have all become much quieter since Enchanted Nature Camp finished and as summer comes to a close.

Occasionally I think I hear a soft "neigh" from a faraway unicorn or see a tiny glimmering fairy wing flickering in the jungle... and other times I wonder if it was just my imagination.

I miss the laughter of children! And one thing is for certain... The more children - the more magic!

My favorite Hen, Night Garnet, has been following me around the farm as usual. She has been laying eggs in the greenhouse that I swap for bugs and grains for her to eat. I popped over this morning to get the daily egg and you will never believe it! One of her eggs is GOLD! A shining, shimmering golden egg. I don't know what it means or what's inside... could it be a golden baby chick? Hidden treasure? Or just a really yummy egg?! We will just have to wait to find out!

For those of you who are back at school I hope your new year is off to a wonderful start! I will be wishing you lots of new friendships, creative endeavors and a stimulated mind!

Everybody feels overwhelmed sometimes - including me! Whenever I feel bonky-wonky I try to remember how it felt when we did the Jellybean Meditation. I close my eyes, breathe slowly and imagine a jellybean. Sometimes my pretend jellybean is rainbow-colored and tastes like lychees, or pink and tastes like watermelon... I can imagine my jellybean big or small. I keep imagining and keep breathing slowly until I feel calm again.

Thinking of you all and can't wait to see you again soon!

Love Lucy
